

Personal: When Connor is not coaching 08 girls, you can find him soaking up the sun when it is warm out. Hiking, fishing, and paddle boarding are some of his favorite activities for summertime in Bend. When it is not so warm, you might see me up at the mountain, or buried under a pile of blankets on the couch 5 episodes deep in a Netflix show when the TV asks you “Are you still watching?”

Playing: Connor fell in love with the game when he was a young brace faced lad. Connor played club in middle school in and D1 High School in Southern California.

Professional: Connor’s professional background includes referring club soccer of all ages in Southern California, but this will be his first season coaching and he could not be more excited about it.

QUOTE: “I’ve always wanted to give back to the game that gave me so much throughout my life. Whether I am playing or watching, I am fully able to let go of everything else and be in the moment. To see that level of excitement on the player’s faces has reminded me of my passion for the game.”
